It's nice to see the daffodils blooming in the churchyard, even on a cold wet miserable day. Spring brings hope of the summer sun and nicer days ahead. It reminds me of both Christ's Resurrection and His promised return – from the coldness of death bursts forth the radiance of new life, the promise of eternal life, as well as the Kingdom of Christ on earth where true peace will one day be established after a period of darkness. Not a fragile man-made peace, nor an established and enforced "United Nations" utopia, but true love and peace prevailing on earth that can only come from God. David
